ON ANOTHER NOTE:

"I lost my best friend Puddin in March after 10 years together. She was my constant companion, by my side every day at City Hall and at most events around the city. To know Puddin was to love her. She is dearly missed by me and everyone else who had the pleasure of knowing her."

FROM MAYOR MIKE MOORE

On the right track

A lot has happened in the months since my last message to you all here. As a city, we have continued to flourish. More than $80 million of new investment was made in Jeffersonville last year — resulting in $66 million in new payroll. Our housing market continues to be strong and businesses big and small continue to invest their futures in our city. All in all, we have a lot to feel good about in these first few months of 2023.

MIKE MOORE

As Jeffersonville evolves, it continues to draw attention from people in places far beyond the Hoosier State. Last fall, Money magazine named Jeff one of the Top 50 Best Places to Live. The magazine cited our successful revitalization of downtown and the riverfront as major reasons people want to put down roots in Jeff. Combined with a short commute to Louisville, lower housing costs and high employment opportunities, the magazine called Jeff "a magnet for adults eager to move away from larger cities."

That's not a surprise to me, but it feels good when the rest of the world stands up and notices everything we have to offer and have worked so hard to accomplish. And we're adding to that list of accomplishments every day by staying focused on giving residents the best life possible.

I have always thought of my kids when looking to the future as your mayor. For the last 11 years I have gotten up each day committed to making Jeffersonville better for them. Now, I have another reason to stay resolute in that commitment: I'm going to be a grandpa for the first time later this year. I'll soon have another generation driving me every day.

For me, our greatest responsibility as a city is to make the kind of decisions that will foster progress and prosperity for generations to come.

Just look around and see what has happened, not just in the last year, but in the last dozen years. Our work and vision is transforming Jeffersonville into a city that others admire and want to emulate. One where families want to live and raise their kids. One where businesses want to invest. And one where people want to call home. We're not about to stop now.

GOT JUNK?

>> Dumpsters back in neighborhoods

Once again, the City is rolling up its sleeves to help with your spring cleaning.

“As soon as spring got here, folks started calling us to see if we were bringing out the dumpsters,” Mayor Mike Moore said. “So, get ready. They’re coming.”

If a dumpster hasn’t been rolled out in your neighborhood yet, don’t worry. Over the course of the next several weeks, dumpsters will be delivered to more than 100 locations in the city.

“This is a big effort,” Moore said. “It’s going to take us a while to get to everyone, but eventually we will reach every neighborhood in the city.”

Eight dumpsters will be placed every Thursday and will be picked up on Monday. The drop-off schedule, with precise locations, will be released on the city’s Facebook page every Tuesday so residents can prepare.

The Sanitation Department requests the following items NOT be disposed of in the neighborhood dumpsters:

- Paint
- Tires
- Appliances
- TVs
- Concrete and bricks

PLANNING & ZONING

CITY’S COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC INPUT

The City of Jeffersonville is in the final days of updating its Comprehensive Plan for the first time since 2015.

For the last year, the City’s Planning Staff has been collecting data, interviewing residents, talking to civic leaders, mapping trends, and determining a course of action for the city for the next 10-20 years. Once it’s finished the Comprehensive Plan will be the City’s new framework for growth, development, infrastructure, public policy, and more. It will also give the public a general idea of where the city could be heading physically, socially and economically.

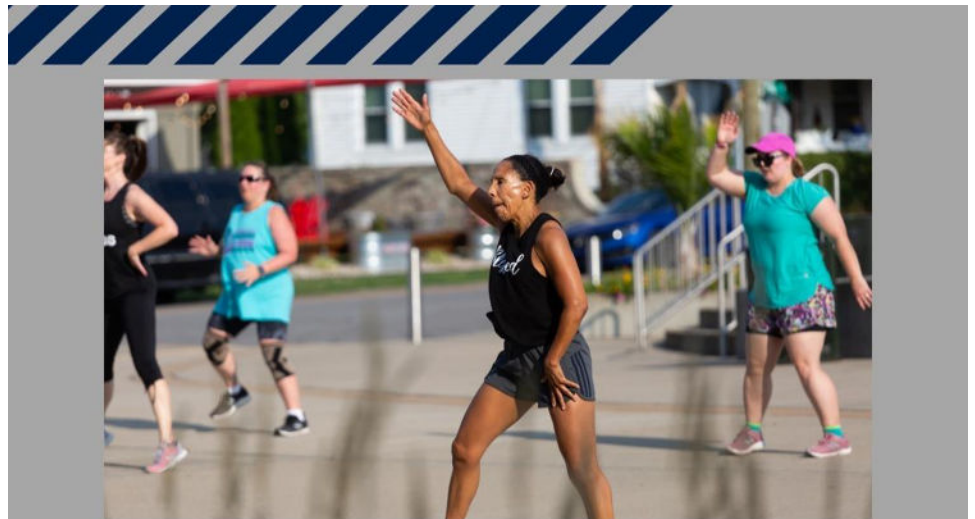

A draft of the plan is available online at buildjeff.com for viewing and public comment.

The plan will be presented to the city’s Plan Commission in May and to the City Council for adoption in June.

“I really believe Jeffersonville is a community,” said Planning and Zoning Director Chad Reischl. “It’s a community of people, of individuals, of families, of friends. It is really a team of all of us living and working together and that’s why we all need to be part of this process.”

CARLY PEARCE COMING TO RIVERSTAGE

>> Jeff Goes Country set for July 1

Grammy Award winning singer/songwriter Carly Pearce has come a long way since leaving her Kentucky home and school at the age of 16 to take a job at Dollywood. That journey will bring her to Jeffersonville on Saturday, July 1 when she headlines Jeff Goes Country.

Fiercely rooted in the classics, Pearce has grown into an artist who embraces the genre's forward progression and is confident in what she wants to say — as is evidenced by the collection of songs on her most recent album “29 Written In Stone (Live From Music City),” which includes her latest No. 1 single “What He Didn't Do.”

Deemed “the new voice of country” by People Magazine, Pearce lit a fire with her debut album “Every Little Thing” and the platinum-certified title track, Pearce's double-platinum-certified “I Hope You're Happy Now” with Lee Brice won both the 2020 CMA Awards Music Event of the Year and the 2021 ACM Awards Music Event of the Year, plus ACM honors for Single of the Year.

She picked up her second consecutive ACM Music Event of the Year honor in 2022 for her duet with Ashley McBryde, “Never Wanted To Be That Girl” — which was also her third No. 1 single and garnered honors as the 2022 CMA Musical Event of the Year and a Grammy Award for Best Country Duo/Group Performance.

Pearce was also recognized as one of CMT's 2022 Artists of the Year, the 2021 CMA Female Vocalist of the Year and reigning ACM Awards Female Artist of the Year and has been inducted into both the Grand Ole Opry and the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame.

LIL JON TAKING OVER RIVERSTAGE FOR JUNETEENTH

Turn Down for What?! The City of Jeffersonville is celebrating Juneteenth in a big way this year with hip-hop icon Lil Jon performing live at the RiverStage on Sunday, June 18.

Loud and larger than life, Lil Jon's charismatic, shouted catch phrases lend to an over-the-top party atmosphere that has carried him repeatedly up the Billboard charts during his more than two-decade career.

Easily one of the most familiar faces of the 2000s, Lil Jon has had success as a solo performer and guest collaborator, scoring blockbuster status with his own "Get Low" as well as for his collaborations with Usher on "Yeah!" and with DJ Snake's "Turn Down for What?"

Not only will Lil Jon be turning out all of his iconic hits at the RiverStage, he'll also treat the crowd to his own DJ set which is sure to take the party to a whole new level.

JEFFERSONVILLE ANIMAL SHELTER

DOGGY DAY OUT

>> New program aimed at increasing adoptions

The Jeffersonville Animal Shelter has a new program that allows volunteers to check a dog out from the shelter and take it on a field trip for the day.

Doggie Day Out is aimed at increasing adoptions and Shelter Director Sarah Green said so far, it's working.

Here's how it works: Once volunteers are cleared to take a dog out for the day, they adorn the dog with "Adopt Me" bandanas and leashes then take them on hikes, trips to the park or the Farmers Market, to the coffee shop for a Pup Cup or the ice cream stand for a Pup Cone ... Anywhere to get the dog out and about and get them seen. The volunteers are encouraged to take photos and videos of their adventure throughout the day and tag the shelter in the posts on social media.

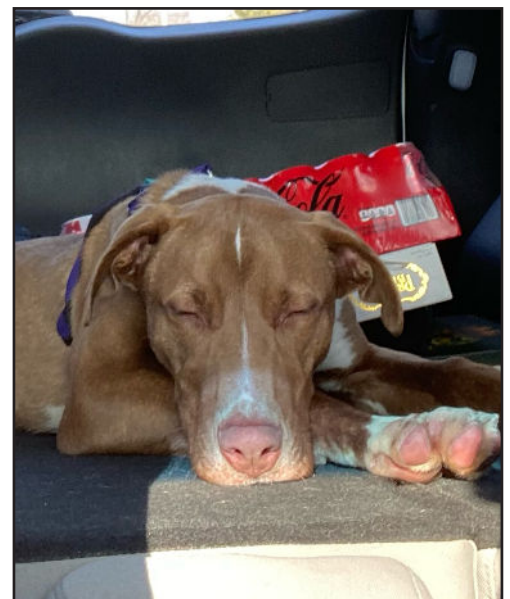

If someone is interested in adopting the dog, the volunteer passes along the dog's business card so they can follow up with the shelter.

Green said several dogs have been adopted through Doggy Day Out already. In addition to increased adoptions, Doggy Day Out helps the shelter dogs exert pent-up energy and helps them get used to new experiences and new people. Also, Doggy Day Out exposes the dogs to potential adopters who aren't likely to visit the shelter.

If you are interested in volunteering for Doggy Day Out, you can find more information, the program manual and a waiver form under the Support Us/Volunteer tab at jeffersonvilleanimalshelter.com.

SPRING SPRUCE UP

Spring has sprung and summer is right around the corner. For a lot of us that means spring cleaning, grass cutting, weed pulling and landscaping.

Here are some tips and reminders from Jeffersonville's Sanitation Department to help you help keep Jeffersonville looking its best:

TRASH: Trash should be at the curb on the morning of your regular pick up no later than 6 a.m. Trash should be inside of a trash can on wheels, with a hinged lid and that is capable of being picked up mechanically. If needed, you can purchase a can from the Sanitation Department for $82. email dgardner@cityofjeff.net.

YARD WASTE: For most Jeffersonville residents, yard waste is picked up on your regular trash pick up day. Yard waste should be in containers (trash cans, cardboard boxes and paper yard waste bags are acceptable) clearly marked as "yard waste." Yard waste will not be collected if it is in plastic bags.

GRASS CLIPPINGS: It is against city ordinance to blow or rake grass clippings and other yard waste into the street, as this can cause drainage issues when it rains.

LIMBS AND TREES: Limbs are usually collected the same day as your trash, although there are sometimes exceptions if the chipper truck is behind schedule. Limbs should be neatly stacked and placed at the curb where your trash is usually picked up. If a contractor trimmed or cut down your trees, the contractor is responsible for

DON'T FORGET!

Projects need permits

As summer heats up and you start thinking about making improvements to your property, please remember the construction of sheds, decks, fences and other accessory structures in your yard (including swimming pools) require a permit through the City's Building Commission office.

Fines can be imposed on structures that are built without the proper permits. And property owners who build structures that don't meet the City's zoning code could be asked to relocate or remove the offending structure.

Please contact Planning and Zoning with any questions before you build any fence or structure on your property. If someone else is building it for you, make sure to remind them they should get a permit before they start building.

For more information on permits, contact the Building Commission office at 812-285-6415.

removing the debris. A minimum service fee of $75 may be assessed to residents with more than a 4-yard dumpster's worth of limbs.

FURNITURE: The street department will pick up furniture generally on the same day as your regular trash pick up. You should notify the department ahead of time if you need furniture picked up.

APPLIANCES, ELECTRONICS AND METAL GOODS: These items are collected on Fridays. You should call in advance if you have items of this nature to be picked up.

DUMPSTERS: The city rents dumpsters of various sizes to residents who have large amounts of trash (generally from the cleaning out or remodeling of a house). Call the street department for sizes and prices of dumpsters.

CHEMICAL/HOUSEHOLD HAZARD WASTE: The street department does not dispose of chemicals or household hazardous waste. Residents who need to dispose of those materials should contact the Clark County Solid Waste Management District at 812-256-7942.

TIRES AND GAS CANS: The street department does not pick up tires or gas canisters.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

Mayor Mike Moore met with Jeffersonville City Councilman Scott Anderson shortly after Anderson's appointment to the council in January.

New council representative appointed for District 4

The Jeffersonville City Council welcomed a new member in January when Scott Anderson was appointed to the body as the District 4 representative. Anderson replaced former councilman Scottie Maples who was elected in November as Clark County Sheriff.

Anderson represents a large district that includes the area of the recently completed Holman's Lane project as well as the upcoming widening of Charlestown Pike. He said those infrastructure projects, as well as improvements like new sidewalks and parks around Jeffersonville make it easier than ever for people to get out and enjoy the city.

Anderson, who was raised in Jeffersonville, has worked in law enforcement for more than 20 years. He and his wife Adrienne have two children.

You can reach him via email at sanderson@cityofjeff.net.

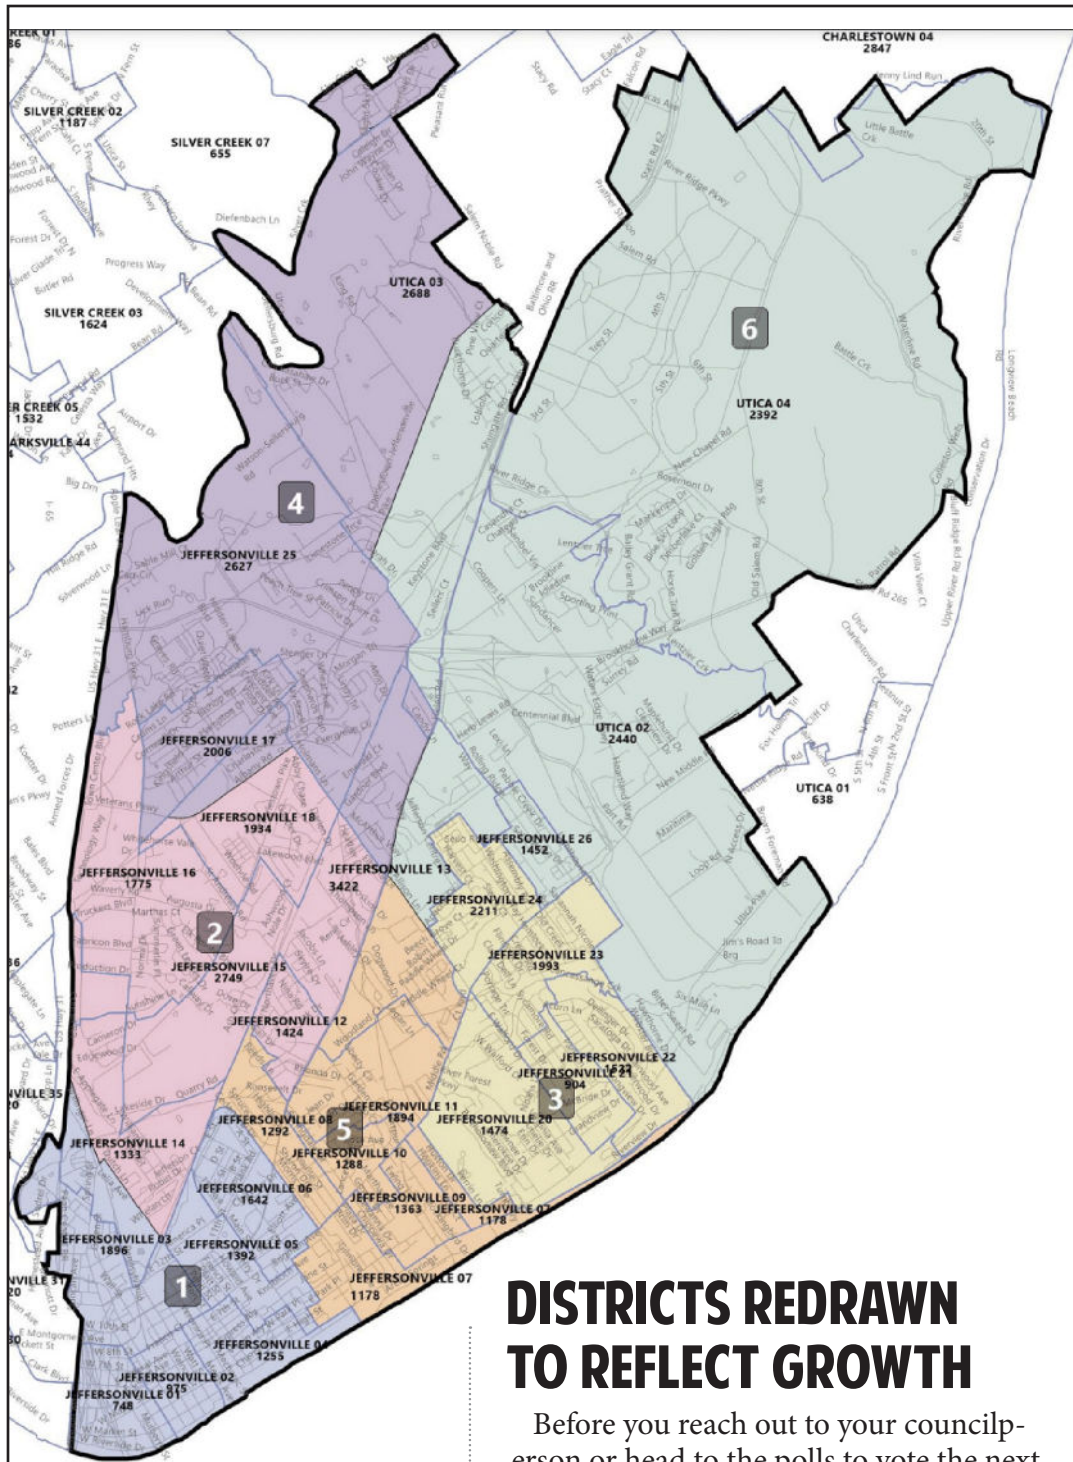

WANT TO MEET MIKE? JUST LET US KNOW!

The days are longer and the temperatures are getting warmer. That means Mayor Mike Moore is shaking off the winter blahs and gearing up to hit some neighborhoods to see what's on your minds.

In his time as mayor, Mike has either attended or hosted nearly 130 neighborhood meetings. With your help, he's hoping to hit 150 by the end of the year. He's anxious to get out and hear from all Jeff residents, so gather up your neighbors, call your neighborhood association and organize your community group then give us a call at 812-285-6400 or email coneil@cityofjeff.net or ahuffman@cityofjeff.net to request a meet-up.

THE MORE YOU KNOW ...

- You can find a larger and interactive version of the council district map under the City Council tab on the city's website at cityofjeff.net.
- If you have questions about your district, voting location or registration status, contact Clark County Voter Registration at 812-285-6329.

DISTRICTS REDRAWN TO REFLECT GROWTH

Before you reach out to your councilperson or head to the polls to vote the next time, make sure you double check the district where you live, as some of the city's districts have changed.

It is required by law that districts be evaluated (and potentially redrawn) following every Census to ensure that the populations of each district are equitable. As such, the Jeffersonville City Council at the end of 2022 adopted changes to the City's voting districts — which has experienced significant growth in the more outlying areas in the last ten years.

KROGER HEALTH OPENS RIVER RIDGE FACILITY

Kroger Health opened a new central fill pharmacy facility in River Ridge Commerce Center in March. The $25 million facility handles prescription refill orders in support of about 160 Kroger pharmacies across Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

At 58,000 square-feet, the new center is five times larger than its previous site in Louisville. It is one of four similar sites nationwide that distribute more than 32 million prescriptions to patients each year.

"I'm proud Kroger chose Jeffersonville and River Ridge for the expansion of its pharmacy services," said Mayor Mike Moore. "This is another boost for our local economy."

The Jeffersonville facility currently employs 140 people and expects to employ 175 when the facility is fully operational. The company says it provides in-store pharmacy staff more time to focus on clinical and customer services.

PARKS PROJECTS ANNOUNCED

Pickleball complex part of upgrades at Lottie Oglesby Park

Earlier this year, the city announced the upcoming development of 16 pickleball courts at Lottie Oglesby Park near Ewing Lane. The development will feature lighted courts, a picnic pavilion with restrooms, walking trails and a playground.

Mayor Mike Moore said as pickleball becomes more popular nationwide, the demand for more courts in the city has grown.

“We put pickleball courts at the Envision Center and they’ve been used quite a bit,” Moore said. “There’s actually more demand than for the four we’ve got there.”

The mayor added that the new, state-of-the-art complex will allow for tournaments and will breathe new life into an under-utilized park.

Other improvements to be made at the park include new and improved parking areas, new tables and seating and the addition of shade and ornamental trees.

“For the last 11 years, we’ve put a very heavy emphasis on quality of life and building family parks,” Moore said. “The more desirable your city is to families, the more you’re going to grow, the more you’re going to have businesses move to Jeffersonville.”

Falls Landing will be a connection point, ease flooding

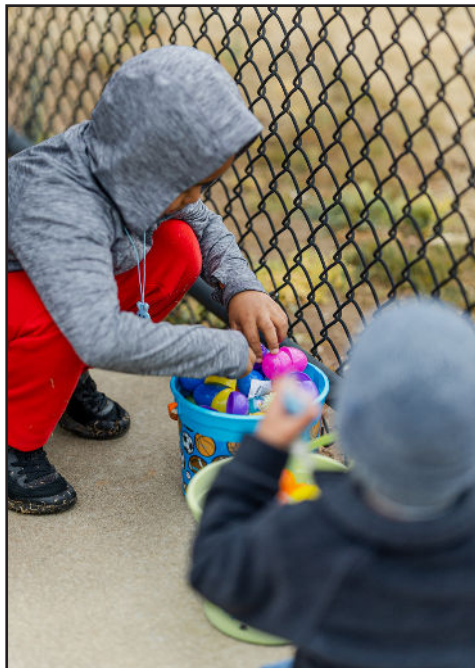

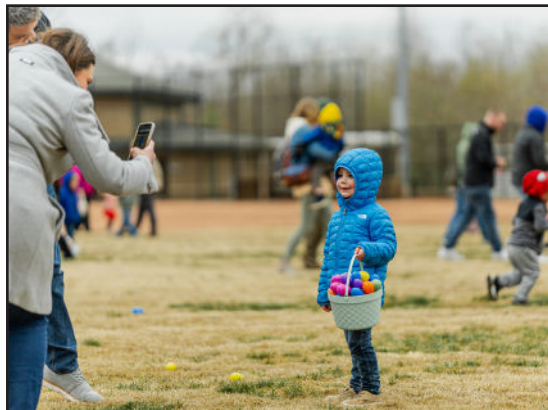

In February, Mayor Mike Moore also announced plans for the creation of Falls Landing — a two-acre open lawn space between 9th Street, Indiana Avenue and Ohio Avenue that will consist of multi-colored pavilions, a large center pathway to host art fairs and vendor tents, areas for sculpture gardens, pedestrian pathways and decorative lighting.

The city previously installed underground retention tanks beneath the two-acre area that will hold up to 1.4 million gallons of stormwater. The area has historically been prone to flooding after heavy rainfalls. No structures can be built over the tanks, which limits its use to green space. Falls Landing is a project that will provide open lawn space, creating a connection between the city’s Gateway and the Arts and Cultural District while also helping to reduce downtown flooding.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT ... Despite high winds and unseasonably cold temperatures, hundreds of kids took part in Jeffersonville's annual Easter Egg Hunt at Vissing Park in April. The egg hunt, sponsored by Republic Bank, is always one of the city's most popular events and we look forward to meeting all of the tiny treasure-hunters who come out to participate every year.
